

ABSTRACT

1

2

3 Disclosed is a method and system for enabling the high speed processing of physical mail
4 articles to convert the same into electronic documents that may be electronically distributed to 5 the original intended recipient without requiring the recipient to come into contact with the 6 original, physical mail article.